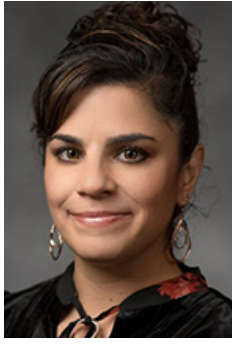
New business development manager named



Pamela Sabo

Pamela Sabo is the new business development and sales manager. Former business development manager Mike Wysatta is public relations manager.

Sabo has worked at Ryder Scott 18 years as a business development coordinator, simulation and engineering technician and analyst.

"Over the years, Pamela has demonstrated her ability to perform well under pressure and her desire to move the company forward in terms of workload, quality and reputation," said Dean Rietz, CEO.

Wysatta, business development manager for 22 years, will continue to manage external communications, including conceiving, writing and publishing Reservoir Solutions, also going into its 22nd year.
